We use the sharepoint wiki as a team wiki. When changes are made to the wiki, a user submits a new version and we are able to download the updated version. I am now looking into how I might be able to download all the wiki pages. I think the answer lies in using Get-PnPListItem. But, there is no help for this command. The help message also does not mention the word Wiki. I can't find any documentation mentioning this. There are lots of forums about how I can download the contents of an item, but not the entire list of all items. A: I think PnP is not a great way of "downloading all the wiki pages". You should do it with a powershell script, the code will be something like: $url = "" $list = new-object psobject $web = get-spweb $list.title = "Top 100" $list.titleUrl = $url $list.hidden = $true $list.Update() #if you need more than one result page $list.trim = true # download it in one page $list.download += $true $list.publish() $list.update() Write-Host "Done" After you download and publish the list (as you would usually do it), it will be available in the List Settings. You can also check that the doc is properly download with the code below: $url = "" $list = new-object psobject $web = get-spweb $list.title = "Top 100" $list.titleUrl = $url $list.hidden = $true $list.download += 6d1f23a050
